Dimensions has worked on many commercial interior projects over the past several years with GCW. We have always found them to be absolute professionals in all aspects of the project.

In the early stage of designs, we will quite often confer with Guy and his crew for millwork advice and consulting. They are always receptive to new ideas and eager to find a way to make difficult design challenges work. We often receive valuable input from their team on cost saving measures, which is always appreciated by the end user. We are always confident that the end product will be as per our design intentions with the GCW group on the job.

I am eager to recommend the services of GCW from design through to installation for any commercial project.

Sincerely,

David Van Haaren - President
